

Customized power distribution box supplier

AI Overview

Top manufacturers of customized power distribution boxes include J&HW Group, INDU-ELECTRIC, Shengen, EDP Europe, and global leaders like Schneider Electric, Siemens, and ABB, offering tailored solutions for industrial, commercial, and mobile applications.

Leading Manufacturers and Their Offerings

J&HW Group specializes in cost-efficient, fully customized power distribution boxes by producing key components in-house, including sockets, wires, and casings. Their integrated production process reduces delays, inventory waste, and ensures a perfect fit for client-specific requirements. INDU-ELECTRIC provides a wide range of Power Distribution Units (PDUs), from wall-mounted and mobile units to compact and rack-mounted solutions. Each unit is individually manufactured to meet technical and mechanical specifications, with high flexibility and durability even under extreme conditions. Shengen focuses on precision sheet metal fabrication for custom PDBs, offering modular designs, flexible input/output configurations, and weather-resistant construction. Their units are UL-listed and suitable for industrial, construction, and entertainment applications, with options for both mobile and permanent installations. EDP Europe delivers bespoke power solutions, including custom PDUs and Power Splitter boxes, designed to meet exact client requirements. They provide cost-effective solutions with no minimum order quantities, ideal for data centers and IT communications rooms. Global Leaders such as Schneider Electric, Siemens, and ABB are recognized for high-quality, reliable, and innovative PDBs. They offer exten...
