

Estonian Composite Cable Tray Company

AI Overview

Ebo Systems and Erismet are key Estonian manufacturers offering composite cable tray solutions.

Ebo Systems

Ebo Systems specializes in GRP (Glass Fiber Reinforced Polyester) cable trays, providing high resistance to corrosive environments, extreme temperatures, and heavy loads, making them suitable for demanding industrial sectors. Since 2010, Ebo Systems has been part of the Niedax Group, a global leader in cable management systems, offering not only products but also technical advice, planning, and installation services. Their manufacturing methods include continuous pultrusion and hot pressing, ensuring durable and reliable cable protection for decades. Ebo Systems serves international markets, including Europe, Asia, and the Middle East.

Erismet

Erismet is an Estonian composite manufacturer with over 15 years of experience in high-tech composite solutions, including carbon fiber components. While primarily focused on custom composite parts, their expertise in 3D composite production and epoxy-based materials allows them to produce specialized cable trays or structural components for industrial applications. They offer precise control over production, high-quality finishes, and the ability to manufacture parts in various sizes, suitable for both flat and lightly contoured designs. Erismet also provides international shipping and supports clients in over 70 countries....
