

Price List of Vibration Optical Cables in the United States

AI Overview

Vibration optical cables in the U.S. typically range from $1 to $10 per foot, depending on type, quality, and application.

Overview of Pricing

Vibration optical cables, a specialized type of fiber optic cable designed to withstand mechanical vibrations, are generally more expensive than standard fiber optic cables due to reinforced construction and durability features. Prices vary based on fiber count, single-mode or multi-mode type, jacket material, and length. For example, standard fiber optic cables can cost $0.50 to $3 per foot, while ruggedized or vibration-resistant variants often range $3 to $10 per foot depending on specifications and certifications .

Supplier Options

- Cables Plus USA offers a wide range of fiber optic cables, including ruggedized and high-density assemblies suitable for vibration-prone environments. Bulk orders may reduce per-foot costs .
- Amazon and other electronics retailers provide smaller quantities for consumer or light industrial use, with prices starting around $1-$5 per foot for basic fiber optic cables .
- Industry pricing indices such as the Producer Price Index for fiber optic cable manufacturing can provide insight into market trends and inflation-adjusted costs
