

Price of a 5-layer cable tray support

AI Overview

The price of a 5-layer cable tray support typically ranges from $150 to $400 per unit, depending on material, load capacity, and adjustability.

Factors Affecting Price

- Material: Supports are commonly made from galvanized steel, stainless steel, or aluminum. Galvanized steel is cost-effective, while stainless steel offers higher corrosion resistance and durability, increasing the price. Aluminum supports are lighter but may cost more for heavy-duty applications.
- Load Capacity: Heavy-duty supports designed to hold multiple cable layers or thicker cables are more expensive. Oversized or reinforced supports prevent sagging and ensure safety in industrial environments.
- Adjustability and Design: Supports with telescoping heights, pivoting joints, or strut/channel designs allow flexible installation and can accommodate vertical or angled mounting. These features add to the cost.
- Supplier and Region: Prices vary by supplier and location. For example, Indian suppliers list cable tray supports and stand-off brackets, but exact pricing depends on specifications and order quantity. Online distributors like RS Hong Kong offer a range of cable management systems, with prices influenced by brand and material.

Typical Price Range

- Light-duty 5-layer supports: $150-$200 per unit
 - Medium-duty supports: $200-$300 per unit
 - Heavy-duty or adjustable supports: $300-$400 per unit
- For precise pricing, it is recommended to contact suppliers directly with the required specifications, including...
