

Price of long-span ladder-type cable trays in West Africa

AI Overview

The price of long-span ladder-type cable trays in West Africa varies widely, typically influenced by material, finish, span length, and supplier, with estimated ranges from $50 to $200 per meter for standard industrial-grade options.

Factors Affecting Price

- Material and Finish: Ladder-type cable trays are commonly made from pre-galvanised steel, hot-dip galvanised steel, or stainless steel (304/316). Pre-galvanised trays are lighter and less expensive, while hot-dip galvanised and stainless steel options offer higher corrosion resistance and durability, increasing the cost .
- Span Length and Load Capacity: Long-span trays designed to support heavy cable loads over extended distances require reinforced rungs and thicker side rails, which significantly affect pricing .
- Supplier and Fabrication: Prices vary depending on whether the trays are imported from international manufacturers or produced locally by regional fabricators. Local assembly and fabrication can reduce costs but may be limited by material availability and quality standards .
- Accessories and Installation: Additional components such as bends, elbows, tees, reducers, and mounting hardware can add 10-20% to the base tray cost .

Market Overview

The West African cable tray market is growing due to industrialization, power infrastructure projects, and commercial construction, with a shift toward heavier-du...
