

Single Canadian Points

Overview

Single Points/Singles (1 point): The CFL is the only football league that gives a team an issue for an unreturned punt or a missed field goal that goes out of bounds through the end zone. When this occurs, the kicking team is awarded a single point, often called a. Diagram of a Canadian football field, which is wider and longer than an American football field. In Canadian football, a single (also called a single point, or rouge) is a one-point score that is awarded for certain plays that involve the ball being kicked into the end zone and not returned from. The Comprehensive Ranking System (CRS) is a points-based system that we use to assess and score your profile and rank it in the Express Entry pool. That includes drilling it out the back of the endzone, as was the case on Thursday night between the Toronto Argonauts and Saskatchewan Roughriders.
